

My! What an awful sight!

This house needs a good clean.
No playing this afternoon.

We will all have to pitch in so that we can fix this place up.

Let's tidy the bedroom first. It isn't too bad.

The quilt has been left in a heap, but that is easy to fix.

We just need to flick it out so that we can lay it back down flat.

The kitchen is a lot worse. We will need to spend a bit of time in here. There are a lot of dirty dishes that need a scrub.

Let's start by stacking everything in piles.

Next let's find the brooms and make a start on the floors.

We will have to open the door as we are disturbing a lot of dust.

See? This place is already looking better.

We need to try to get right under the couch so that you can get it all the dust.

Will it make it easier if I lift it up for you? Alright, ready?

There you go. We'll get everything right at the back.

Now that all of the items in the drying rack are ready, we can put them back into the cupboard.

See that you don't put too much in each spot or it will fall out.

Back for a bit more sweeping. I can see the floor starting to shine.

There is a little more cleaning to do and we will be all finished.

Maybe we can play after all?

Time flies when you are getting things done!

Just a few more jobs to do.

We'll brush the cat so its fur will not get everywhere. We'll fold the blankets. We'll give the toilet a scrub.

Alright, last two jobs.

You can either take the slippers and laundry into the bedroom, or feed the fish and see that the tank is clean.

You decide who takes what.

Wow! What a great job we all did. And we still have plenty of time to have fun.

We might even be able to go down to the park. I'll check the time. Yes, let's go!
