

There was a little boy called Jago who loved having a sleep over at his grandma's house,

And this weekend was special as it was his first one of the summer holidays,

When they arrived at grandma's house Jago was so excited, he jumped out and started running down the path, shouting back to his mother. Bye mummy, see you tomorrow whilst knocking on grandmas door

Grandma lived in a farmhouse on a long lane with hedgerows all the way down and she also had a little dog called Lily,

Hello Jago, grandma said as she greeted him at the door.
Have you come for a sleepover?

Yes, please Grandma Jago replied, well come in said grandma!
Lily has been looking forward to seeing you,

Lily was jumping round full of joy and wiggling her tail.

That night jago and grandma were playing games and having lots of fun.
Grandma turned round and looked at the clock.
she said,
Is that the time? we have had so much fun, I didn't realise it was that late.

So Jago put his pyjamas on brushed his teeth, and off to bed he went.

The next morning jago was up nice and early and after having his favourite breakfast.
pancakes with honey, and strawberries on the side,"

Jago asked grandma.
"Can I take lily on a walk".

"Yes replied grandma".

Little lily started wagging her tail as she knew every time the word Walk was mentioned she was going out on an adventure.

jago put lily's lead on and off they went,
But not far into their journey, down the lane,
Jago found a stick,

But this stick was not like any other that he had seen before,

It looked like an extra-long magic wand, with a metal tip on the end.

Jago picked up the stick and started tapping it on the ground as he was walking along the lane,

All of a sudden, a voice said,

“Stop that banging “

Who said that jago asked,

It's me down here replied the voice,

When Jago looked down to his surprise, he saw a little hedgehog.
Talking back to him,

“WoW “said Jago, I didn’t know hedgehogs could talk,

We can’t replied the hedgehog, but you have found the magic stick, the only one in the world, and when you tap it on the ground it causes magic to happen.
It was lost a long time ago by a kind wizard that lived in the house at top of the lane,
“Explained the hedgehog”.

I’ll need to look after it then replied Jago,

Ho yes, said the hedgehog you will be able to do magic and talk to all the animals with that stick,

Do you mind if I walk with you asked the hedgehog,

No, you’re welcome to come along replied to Jago,

Can I talk to my dog too? asked Jago

“Yes replied lily”.

I can talk as well,

Ho this is the best stick ever thought jago, I’m able to talk to all the animals, and do magic,

As they walked further down the lane,
Jago saw a horse looking over at him from the field.

Good morning mr horse said Jago,

“And the horse replied” Good morning to you,

Jago couldn’t believe it.

A talking horse,

The horse told jago he was a bit sad today as the sunshine had dried up his water bucket.

Ho don’t worry Mr horse said jago

I will fill it up again for you.

jago taped the ground with his magic stick and the water bucket was full again,

Thank-you said the horse that will last me all day.

Jago went further down the lane and saw a rabbit.

He said having good day little rabbit.

And the rabbit replied.

Not really, I can't find any carrots.

Don't worry replied jago,

I can get you some.

And Jago taped his magic stick on the ground and a bucket full of carrots appeared,

Wow said the rabbit, thank you so much!

You're welcome replied Jago and off he went further down the lane,

After a few hours' Mr hedgehog said to Jago is it time we started getting home now before it starts to go dark,

So, they turned back up the lane towards home.

Now don't forget to take good care of that magic stick "said the hedgehog,"

Ho don't worry "replied Jago"

I will hide this at grandma's house we're no one will find it.

so, Im able to talk to you every time I come down the lane,

Well good night mr hedgehog said jago and off he went.

back home to tell grandma about his amazing adventure,